

I have watched, read, ruminated, and prayed over this release. It has been a years' long process. Initially I wanted to hide from it. But this is a part of my life and running from it at the conclusion is not how I would have it end.

In coming full circle with a statement as myself, as Kami Calevro, I wish to send these words: Let us assure our girls and women that there is no shame in rape, let them know that there is a full life after violent crime, and let us remind everyone that no matter the outcome we all must come together for the greater good of society.

I am grateful for the 25 years served yet disappointed that these years were spent untreated. It would benefit all involved if he were to accept the assistance offered by the Restorative Justice Center. My hope is that he successfully reintegrate into society and for the community to stay safe from anything like this ever happening again
